

Client Success Playbook

Client Success Playbook

Revital Productions — Internal Use Only | Updated June 2026

PURPOSE: This playbook defines how Revital Productions proactively manages client relationships to maximize retention, satisfaction, and growth. It covers everything that happens between onboarding and offboarding — the day-to-day relationship management that determines whether a client stays, grows, and refers others. Following this playbook consistently is the single biggest factor in reducing churn and growing revenue.

PHILOSOPHY: Client success is not reactive — it is proactive. We do not wait for clients to complain before we act. We do not wait for contracts to expire before we have renewal conversations. We do not wait for results to drop before we flag it. At Revital Productions, we know our clients' businesses, we monitor their results weekly, and we communicate proactively at every stage of the engagement.

SECTION 1 — THE CLIENT SUCCESS FRAMEWORK

The Three Stages of Every Client Relationship

Every client relationship at Revital Productions moves through three stages. Your job as an account manager is to know exactly which stage each client is in and to act accordingly.

Stage 1 — Launch (Month 1-2)

Goal: Get results fast, establish trust, set the relationship up correctly

The first 60 days are the most important of any engagement. Clients are evaluating whether they made the right decision. They are comparing the reality of working with us to the promise we made during the sales process. Everything during this stage must signal professionalism, expertise, and momentum.

What clients need in Stage 1:

- Fast first results — even small wins matter enormously in the first 30 days
- Clear communication — proactive updates, no silence
- Confidence — they need to believe they made the right choice
- Easy process — the portal, the approval forms, the communication flow must feel effortless

What to focus on in Stage 1:

- Over-communicate — more updates than you think are necessary
- Deliver the first piece of work earlier than expected if possible
- Make the first monthly report the most detailed and impressive one
- Run the 30-day and 60-day check-ins (Section 2)

Stage 2 — Growth (Month 3-8)

Goal: Compound results, deepen the relationship, create dependency through value

By Month 3 clients should be seeing meaningful results. The relationship is established and the workflow is smooth. This is when the best account managers separate themselves — they stop just executing and start thinking strategically about the client's business.

What clients need in Stage 2:

- Consistent results — the honeymoon is over, now it has to work
- Strategic thinking — go beyond the brief, bring ideas they didn't ask for
- Proactive communication — flag opportunities and threats before the client notices them
- Evidence of growth — show them progress against their original goals monthly

What to focus on in Stage 2:

- Look for upsell opportunities (Section 6)
 - Bring one new idea or recommendation per month that wasn't in the brief
 - Start building the case study (Section 7)
 - Run the monthly check-in cadence religiously (Section 3)

Stage 3 — Retention (Month 9+)

Goal: Lock in the renewal, maximize account value, turn the client into an advocate

Long-term clients are the most valuable clients in the business. They require less onboarding time, they trust the team, and they refer other clients. But long-term relationships also get taken for granted — the biggest risk in Stage 3 is complacency.

What clients need in Stage 3:

- Continued results and fresh ideas — they need to feel the relationship is still alive
- Recognition — acknowledge milestones (1 year together, major wins, company anniversaries)
- Proactive renewal conversation — never make them feel like they have to chase us
- Ongoing strategic value — be a business partner, not just a vendor

What to focus on in Stage 3:

- Start renewal conversations at the right time (see  Client Renewal Process doc)
- Identify expansion opportunities before the renewal

- Ask for referrals and a case study (Section 7)
 - Quarterly Strategy Reviews (Section 3)

SECTION 2 — THE 30 / 60 / 90 DAY NEW CLIENT CHECK-IN CADENCE

Every new client gets three dedicated check-in touchpoints in their first 90 days. These are in addition to the regular monthly reporting — they are relationship check-ins, not performance reviews.

Day 30 Check-In

Format: 15-20 minute call or video call

Scheduled by: Account Manager — set this up during the kick-off call

Goal: Confirm the client is happy with the onboarding experience and the early work

Agenda

1. Quick wins recap (5 minutes)
 - Share 1-2 early results or progress updates — even small ones
 - Show them something they might not have noticed themselves
2. Process check (5 minutes)
 - How is the portal working for them?
 - Are the approval forms easy to use?
 - Is the communication cadence working?
 - Is there anything about the process that feels off?
3. Open floor (5 minutes)
 - "Is there anything you expected from this first month that you haven't seen yet?"
 - "Is there anything we should be doing differently?"
 - "How are you feeling about things so far?"
4. Next 30 days preview (5 minutes)
 - Share what's coming up in the next month
 - Confirm the content calendar and upcoming campaigns

After the Call

- Log call summary in 📞 Client Strategy Meeting Notes in ClickUp within 2 hours
- Send a written follow-up within 24 hours confirming any action items
- Update Client Health in CRM — first formal health rating
- Flag any concerns to leadership immediately

30-Day Check-In Script Opener

"Hi [Name] — it's been 30 days already! I wanted to jump on a quick call just to make sure everything is going smoothly from your end and see if there's anything we can do better. We're also starting to see some early movement I'm excited to share with you..."

Day 60 Check-In

Format: 20-30 minute call or video call

Goal: Review early results, confirm strategy alignment, identify any emerging concerns before they become problems

Agenda

1. Results review (10 minutes)
 - Share the most meaningful metrics from the first 60 days
 - Compare to the baseline from the intake form and initial Hub audits
 - Be honest about what's working and what needs more time
2. Strategy alignment (5-10 minutes)
 - "Based on what we've learned in the first two months, is there anything you want to adjust or reprioritize?"
 - Reference their original goals from intake form Section 6
 - Confirm the current strategy still matches their business priorities
3. Relationship temperature check (5 minutes)
 - "On a scale of 1-10, how happy are you with how things are going so far?"
 - If below 8 — ask what would make it a 10
 - If 8 or above — note this for a future referral or testimonial ask
4. Next 30 days (5 minutes)
 - Preview Month 3 content calendar and campaigns
 - Introduce any new ideas or opportunities

After the Call

- Log in  Client Strategy Meeting Notes within 2 hours
 - Send follow-up within 24 hours
 - Update Client Health in CRM
 - If score was below 8 — escalate to leadership and begin the At-Risk Rescue Protocol (Section 5)
 - If score was 9-10 — note as a future case study and referral candidate (Section 7)

Day 90 Check-In

Format: 30-45 minute call or video call — this is the most important of the three

Goal: Full 90-day review, confirm long-term strategy, identify upsell opportunities, plant the seed for renewal

Agenda

1. 90-day performance review (15 minutes)

- Pull the Hub audit comparison — onboarding scores vs. current
- Present the top 5 results from the first 90 days with specific numbers
- Honestly review anything that hasn't performed as expected and the plan going forward

2. Goal check (10 minutes)

- Review the original goals from Section 6 of the intake form
- Which goals are on track? Which need adjustment?
- "Looking at where we started and where we are now — how does this compare to your expectations?"

3. Strategy evolution (10 minutes)

- Based on 90 days of data — what do we now know about what works for this client?
- Bring one new strategic recommendation they didn't ask for
- Introduce any upsell opportunities naturally (see Section 6)

4. Forward planning (5-10 minutes)

- Preview the next quarter
- For 3-month contract clients — begin the renewal conversation here (reference  Client Renewal Process)
- For longer contracts — confirm they are set for the next phase

After the Call

- Log in  Client Strategy Meeting Notes within 2 hours
 - Send a detailed written summary — this is the most important follow-up of the 90-day cycle
 - Update Client Health in CRM
 - Log the 90-day rating as a benchmark in the CRM Deal record Comments
 - If upsell opportunity identified — prepare proposal (Section 6)
 - If renewal conversation started — begin  Client Renewal Process

Quarterly Strategy Review Agenda (45-60 minutes)

- Quarter in review (15 minutes)
 - Top results from the last 3 months with specific numbers

 - Present data to support both the wins and the gaps

SECTION 4 — CLIENT HEALTH MONITORING SYSTEM

Health Rating Definitions

Every active client has a Client Health rating in the CRM. This is not just a gut feeling — it is based on specific observable signals.

Green — Healthy & Engaged

Observable signals:

- Responds to approvals and questions within 48 hours consistently
- Completes the approval form without being reminded
- Engages positively in calls and emails
- Has not raised concerns about results, process, or pricing
- Monthly report scores are at or above KPI targets
- Proactively shares positive feedback or mentions Revital to others

Action required: Maintain current cadence. Look for upsell and referral opportunities. Start building the case study.

Yellow — At Risk or Declining

Observable signals — any one of these triggers Yellow:

- Response time has slowed beyond 72 hours consistently
- Skipped or cancelled a scheduled call without rescheduling
- Raised a concern in the last 30 days — even casually
- Monthly report shows performance below KPI target for 2+ consecutive months
- Engagement in the portal has dropped significantly
- Mentioned budget concerns or competing priorities
- Gave a satisfaction score below 8 during a check-in call
- Account manager has a "gut feeling" something is off

Action required: Do not wait. Schedule a proactive check-in call within 7 days. Begin the At-Risk Rescue Protocol (Section 5).

Red — Seriously At Risk

Observable signals — any one of these triggers Red:

- Has not responded to any communication in 7+ business days
- Explicitly raised serious concerns about results, the team, or value
- Mentioned looking at other agencies or bringing things in-house
- Requested a billing or scope change that signals dissatisfaction
- Missed a payment or disputed an invoice
- Raised their voice, expressed frustration strongly, or made a complaint
- Account manager believes the client will not renew

Action required: Escalate to leadership immediately — same day. Leadership determines the response. Begin the At-Risk Rescue Protocol (Section 5) at the highest level.

When to Update Client Health

Update the Client Health field in the CRM Deal record after:

- Every monthly report delivery
- Every check-in call or strategy review
- Every Weekly Account Management Questionnaire
- Any conversation where client sentiment was discussed

- Any situation where a concern, complaint, or praise was expressed

Health ratings that are not updated regularly are useless. If every client is always Green, the system is not being used honestly. Be real — Yellow and Red ratings are not failures, they are early warnings that protect the business.

SECTION 5 — AT-RISK CLIENT RESCUE PROTOCOL

When a client is Yellow or Red, the standard account management cadence is not enough. Follow this protocol immediately.

Yellow Client Rescue (7-Day Response Window)

Day 1 — Assess

- Review all recent communications, portal activity, and CRM notes
- Run the Weekly Account Management Questionnaire with extra attention — what specifically changed?
- Identify the root cause: Is it results? Process? Communication? External factors? Relationship?
- Notify leadership that a client has moved to Yellow

Day 2-3 — Prepare

- Pull the last 3 months of performance data and Hub audit scores
- Identify 2-3 quick wins you can demonstrate or deliver in the next 14 days
- Prepare a proactive action plan — what specific changes will you make and when?
- Draft the rescue check-in call agenda

Day 4-5 — Contact

- Call the client — do not email. Yellow clients need to hear a voice.
- Use the Yellow rescue call script below
- Listen more than you talk — let them tell you what's wrong
- Do not promise anything you haven't cleared with leadership first

Day 6-7 — Follow Through

- Send a written follow-up within 24 hours of the call outlining exactly what you committed to
- Make at least one visible action within 7 days of the call — show them you listened
- Update Client Health in CRM — does it stay Yellow or improve?
- Schedule a follow-up check-in in 2 weeks to confirm improvement

Yellow Rescue Call Script

"Hi [Name], I wanted to reach out personally because I want to make sure we're delivering the value you expected from this partnership. I've been reviewing your account closely and I want to be proactive rather than waiting for our monthly report. How are you feeling about things right now — really? I want to hear your honest feedback."

Listen. Do not interrupt. Do not be defensive. Take notes.

"Thank you for being so open with me. I hear you on [specific concern]. Here's what I want to commit to: [specific action 1], [specific action 2], and [specific action 3]. I'll follow up with this in writing today and I want to check back in with you in two weeks to make sure you're seeing the difference. Does that sound fair?"

Red Client Rescue (48-Hour Response Window)

Within 24 Hours — Escalate

- Notify leadership immediately — same day the client moves to Red
- Do NOT contact the client without a leadership-approved plan
- Leadership assesses: Is this relationship salvageable? What is the cost of losing this client vs. the cost of keeping them?
- Leadership determines the response approach and whether they join the next client call

Within 48 Hours — Act

- Account manager and leadership align on the rescue plan
- Contact the client — leadership may choose to be on the call or reach out personally
- Use the Red rescue approach: validate, acknowledge, commit, and follow through

Red Rescue Approach

Validate: Never dismiss or minimize what the client is feeling — even if you believe they are wrong

"I hear you and I want you to know I take this seriously. Your concerns are completely valid and I'm glad you're telling me directly."

Acknowledge: Own what isn't working without making excuses

"You're right that [specific issue] hasn't been where it needs to be. I'm not going to make excuses for that."

Commit: Present a specific, time-bound action plan

"Here is exactly what we are going to do, and by when: [action 1 by date], [action 2 by date], [action 3 by date]. I want you to hold us to these."

Follow Through: Do everything you said you would do — faster than you promised

Nothing saves a Red client faster than doing exactly what you said you would do, before you said you'd do it.

If the Red Client Cannot Be Rescued

If after the rescue attempt the client still wants to leave:

- Do not negotiate aggressively — it rarely works and damages the relationship
 - Begin the  Client Offboarding SOP immediately
 - Ask for a referral and a review on the way out — some clients respect the graceful exit enough to still refer
 - Log everything in CRM — the reason, the rescue attempt, the outcome
 - Use this as a learning moment: what could have been done differently at the Yellow stage?

SECTION 6 — UPSELL TRIGGER POINTS & PLAYBOOK

The best time to introduce a new service is when a client is happy, seeing results, and already trusting the team. Never upsell from a place of desperation or when the relationship is strained.

Upsell Timing Rules

- Never upsell in the first 30 days — let them see value from the current services first
- Never upsell when Client Health is Yellow or Red — fix the relationship first
- Always upsell from results — lead with what's working, then show what more is possible
- Never pitch more than one new service at a time — keep it focused

Upsell Trigger Points

Trigger	Signal	Natural Upsell
Social media growing but no paid ads	Strong organic growth	Meta or Google Ads
Running ads but no SEO	Paid traffic converting	SEO to reduce ad dependency
Good content but low email engagement	Active audience	Email Marketing
Website outdated or underperforming	High traffic, low conversions	Website Redesign / Landing Pages
Strong brand presence but no video	Competitors using video	Video Production / Reels
Great results — client mentions referring others	Trust is high	Referral program conversation
Seasonal campaign coming up	Client mentions a big event	Additional content production package
Client launches a new product or service	Business update in call or portal	Campaign strategy and launch support
Client's competitors are outpacing them	Competitor Analysis in Hub shows gap	New service to close the gap
Client is consistently approving content fast	Low friction relationship	Additional platforms or content volume

How to Introduce the Upsell

Step 1 — Frame it as an observation, not a pitch

"I've been looking at your analytics and something jumped out at me. Your organic reach is growing really well — but I noticed that [specific opportunity]. I have an idea I'd love to run by you."

Step 2 — Connect it to their existing goals

"One of your original goals from when we started was [goal from Section 6 of intake form]. I think [new service] is actually the fastest path to getting there based on what we're seeing."

Step 3 — Show the expected outcome

"Based on what we've done with other clients in similar situations, here's what we'd expect to see: [specific outcome with realistic numbers]."

Step 4 — Make it easy to say yes

"I can put together a quick proposal this week if you want to see the details — no pressure at all. I just wanted to share it because I genuinely think it would make a difference for you."

Step 5 — Follow up with a proposal

- Reference the Proposal Template in the Pricing & Packages folder
- Send within 48 hours of the conversation
- Keep the upsell proposal short — 1-2 pages maximum, focused on the single new service

SECTION 7 — TURNING HAPPY CLIENTS INTO REFERRALS & CASE STUDIES

Happy clients are your most powerful growth tool. A single referral from a happy client is worth more than 10 cold outreach attempts. The goal is to systematically convert great client relationships into business growth.

When to Ask for a Referral

Timing is everything. The best moments to ask for a referral are:

Moment	Why It Works
After the 60-day check-in (satisfaction score 9-10)	Client is in the honeymoon high — momentum and excitement are at their peak
After delivering a major win	Client is emotionally thrilled — gratitude is highest in the moment
After the 90-day review	Client can clearly see the results — confidence in the decision is confirmed
At contract renewal	Client is recommitting — they are already saying yes to you
After a difficult situation that you resolved well	Client is impressed by how you handled it — trust is

Never ask for a referral when:

- Client Health is Yellow or Red
- A deliverable was recently disputed
- An invoice is overdue
- You just had a difficult conversation

How to Ask for a Referral

Natural, not transactional:

"We've really loved working with you and the results you're seeing have been incredible. If you know anyone else who could benefit from what we do, we'd love an introduction — even a quick text connecting us goes a long way. We promise to take great care of anyone you send our way."

Specific prompt:

"Do you know any other [business owners / entrepreneurs / local businesses] who are trying to grow their [social media / ads / online presence]? Even just a name would be helpful — we can reach out on your behalf."

Referral with incentive (if applicable):

"We actually have a referral program — if anyone you refer becomes a client, we [describe incentive]. It's our way of saying thank you for the trust."

Referral Follow-Up Process

1. Log the referral immediately in the 📁 Referral Tracker in ClickUp Growth Space
2. Reach out to the referred contact within 24 hours — mention the client's name
3. Keep the referring client informed: "Just wanted to let you know I reached out to [name] — thank you again for the introduction!"
4. When the referral converts — thank the referring client personally and deliver their referral incentive if applicable

Case Study Process

A case study is one of the most powerful pieces of marketing content Revital Productions can produce. Every client who has strong results and a Green health rating is a potential case study.

When to Start Building the Case Study

- Begin collecting data and results from Month 2 onward — do not wait until offboarding
- Formally propose the case study at the 90-day review or at a natural win moment

Case Study Request Script

"We're really proud of what we've built together and I'd love to showcase your story. We put together in-depth case studies for our best client partnerships — it's great for your brand too since it gets your company featured in our marketing. Would you be open to that?"

What the Case Study Covers

Section	Content
Client Overview	Who they are, their industry, what they do
The Challenge	Where they were before working with Revital
The Strategy	What we recommended and why
The Execution	What we did — services, content, campaigns
The Results	Specific numbers — before and after
The Client's Words	A 2-3 sentence quote from the client

Case Study Approval

All case studies must be approved by the client before publishing. Use the approval process from the  Content Approval Workflow doc — specifically the Section 2 Social Media Approval Form adapted for case study content.

SECTION 8 — DIFFICULT CLIENT CONVERSATIONS

Even the best client relationships hit friction. How you handle difficult conversations determines whether clients stay or leave.

Types of Difficult Conversations & How to Handle Each

The Underperformance Conversation

When: Results are below expectations — you need to address it before the client does

Rule: Always bring it up proactively — never let a client discover underperformance without context from you first

Script:

"I want to be upfront with you about something before we get into the report. [Metric] hasn't performed the way we expected this month. Here's what we're seeing, here's why we believe it happened, and here's exactly what we're doing about it: [action 1], [action 2], [action 3]. I want you to hold us accountable to these."

The Scope Creep Conversation

When: Client is regularly asking for work outside the SOW without a Change Order

Rule: Address it early — scope creep that goes unaddressed compounds over time and causes resentment

Script:

"I want to flag something before it becomes an issue. We've been [doing X, Y, Z] over the last few weeks which falls outside your current plan. I want to make sure we're set up to keep delivering at this level, so I'm going to put together a quick Change Order that covers this work going forward. It keeps everything official and makes sure our team has the bandwidth to do it properly."

The Price Objection Mid-Contract

When: Client raises concerns about price during the engagement — not at renewal

Rule: Never reduce price mid-contract without leadership approval. Redirect to value first.

Script:

"I appreciate you bringing this up directly — let's talk about it. I want to make sure you feel like the investment is worth it. Can you tell me more about what's driving the concern? Is it about the budget overall, or is it about feeling confident in the return?"

If it's about ROI — present the results data and reframe the value.

If it's genuinely a budget issue — escalate to leadership for guidance on options.

The "We're Going In-House" Conversation

When: Client mentions they are considering bringing marketing in-house

Rule: Do not panic or get defensive. Ask questions first.

Script:

"That makes a lot of sense to think about — a lot of growing businesses do that. Can I ask what's driving that thinking? Is it about cost, control, or something else? I want to understand what would serve you best, even if that's a different model than what we're doing now."

Often "going in-house" is code for wanting more control or feeling like they're not getting enough communication. Understanding the real concern gives you a chance to address it.

The Complaint Conversation

When: Client is frustrated and expresses it directly — via email, call, or portal

Rule: Never be defensive. Never minimize. Never escalate emotionally.

Four-step response:

1. Acknowledge: "Thank you for telling me this directly — I'm glad you did."
2. Validate: "What you're describing is completely understandable and I can see why that's frustrating."
3. Own it: "You're right. [Specific thing] shouldn't have happened and I own that."
4. Commit: "Here's exactly what we're going to do: [action 1 by date], [action 2 by date]."

After the conversation:

- Escalate to leadership immediately if the complaint is serious
 - Send a written follow-up within 2 hours
 - Update Client Health to  Red
 - Begin the At-Risk Rescue Protocol

Client Success Playbook Version 1.0 | Revital Productions | June 2026

This playbook should be reviewed and updated quarterly. Every account manager is responsible for knowing and following this playbook for every active client.
