

Client Communication Policy

Client Communication Policy

Updated June 2026

This document contains two versions of the Revital Productions Communication Policy:

- Part A — Client-Facing Version: Share this with every new client during onboarding. It sets clear expectations for how communication works throughout the engagement.
- Part B — Internal Team Version: For Revital Productions team members only. Covers internal rules, escalation procedures, and how to handle difficult communication situations.

How to share Part A with clients: Copy Part A into the client's 🖱️ Welcome to Your Client Portal doc in their ClickUp portal, or paste it into the kick-off call agenda. Every client must receive and acknowledge this policy before work begins.

PART A — CLIENT COMMUNICATION POLICY

For Clients | Revital Productions

Welcome to Revital Productions. This Communication Policy outlines how we work together, how to reach us, what to expect from our team, and what we need from you to deliver the best results. Clear communication is the foundation of a great working relationship — and we want to make sure we're aligned from Day 1.

Your Dedicated Account Manager

From the moment you sign on with us, you will have one dedicated Account Manager who is your primary point of contact for everything. You will never have to wonder who to call or explain your business to someone new every time you reach out.

Your Account Manager:

- Name: (Account Manager Name)
- Email: (email@revitalproductions.com)

- Phone: (phone number)
- Working Hours: (e.g. Monday–Friday, 9am–6pm CST)

For urgent matters outside of business hours, please call or text your Account Manager directly. We will always do our best to respond promptly.

How to Reach Us — Channel Guide

Different types of requests belong in different channels. Using the right channel ensures your request gets to the right person quickly and nothing falls through the cracks.

Type of Request	Channel to Use	Expected Response Time
Revision requests and content feedback	Client Portal (ClickUp)	Acknowledged within 24 hours
Campaign questions and strategy discussions	Email to your Account Manager	Within 24 business hours
Billing questions and invoice inquiries	Email to your Account Manager	Within 24 business hours
Urgent matters (campaign down, critical issue)	Phone or Text to your Account Manager	Within 2 hours during business hours
General questions and updates	Email to your Account Manager	Within 24 business hours
Scheduling calls or meetings	Email to your Account Manager	Within 24 business hours

 Important: All revision requests must be submitted through your Client Portal — not via email, text, or phone call. This ensures your request is tracked, assigned, and completed without anything getting missed. If you send a revision via email, your Account Manager will log it in the portal and remind you to use it going forward.

Response Time Commitments

What You Can Expect From Us

Situation	Our Commitment
General emails and messages	Response within 24 business hours

Revision requests submitted in the portal	Acknowledged within 24 hours, completed within agreed turnaround time
Monthly performance reports	Delivered by the 5th of each month
Urgent issues (campaign errors, ad disapprovals)	Response within 2 hours during business hours
Kick-off call scheduling after form submission	Contact within 1-2 business days
Change Order requests	Sent to you within 24 hours of the request
Out of office	You will be notified in advance and given a backup contact

What We Need From You

Great results require a great partnership. Here is what we ask from you:

Situation	Your Commitment
Content and creative approvals	Within 48 hours of delivery
Revision requests	Submitted through the client portal within 48 hours of receiving the deliverable
Response to questions from our team	Within 48 business hours
Brand assets, content, or information requested	Within 5 business days of the request
Platform access (logins, ad accounts)	Within 5 business days of signing
Feedback on proposals or strategy documents	Within 5 business days of delivery

 Approval Delays: If we do not receive your approval or feedback within 48 hours, your deliverable may be rescheduled to the next available production slot. This helps us keep all of our clients on schedule. We will always send a friendly reminder before rescheduling.

Meeting Cadence

Depending on your service package, here is when you can expect to connect with your Account Manager:

Meeting	Frequency	Purpose
Kick-Off Call	Once at onboarding	Align on strategy, collect assets, set expectations
Monthly Report Review	Monthly (optional)	Walk through performance report and next month's plan
Quarterly Strategy Review	Every 3 months (if included)	Evaluate results, adjust strategy, discuss upcoming goals
Ad-Hoc Check-In	As needed	Quick call for questions, updates, or campaign discussions

To schedule any call, simply email your Account Manager or reply to your monthly report email. We will find a time that works for both parties.

How to Submit Revisions & Feedback

All revision requests must go through your Client Portal in ClickUp. Here is exactly how to do it:

1. Log in to your client portal
2. Go to the  Feedback & Revisions list
3. Click + New Task
4. Name your request clearly — e.g. "Revision — Instagram Post June 15"
5. Describe your feedback in the task description — be as specific as possible
6. Attach any reference images, examples, or files if helpful
7. Set a priority: Urgent / High / Normal / Low
8. Submit — we will acknowledge your request within 24 hours

Tips for great feedback:

- Be specific — "change the headline to say 'Transform Your Brand'" is more helpful than "the copy doesn't feel right"

- Submit all feedback for one deliverable at once — avoid sending multiple rounds of small changes separately
 - If you're referencing a specific part of the content, timestamp it (for video) or describe the location (for graphics)

Revision Rounds

Your contract includes a set number of revision rounds per deliverable. This is outlined in your Statement of Work. Here is how revision rounds work:

- Round 1: You receive the deliverable and submit your first round of feedback through the portal
- Round 2 (if included): You receive the revised version and submit any final feedback
- Final: The approved version is delivered and published

If additional revision rounds are needed beyond what is included in your contract, a Change Order will be issued for the extra work. We will always notify you before any additional charges are applied — we will never bill you for something you haven't approved.

Urgent Issues

If you experience a critical issue — such as an ad campaign going down, a website outage, an incorrect post going live, or any situation that requires immediate attention — please call or text your Account Manager directly. Do not submit urgent issues through the portal only as we may not see them in time.

What counts as urgent:

- Active ad campaigns not delivering or spending incorrectly
- A post or ad went live with incorrect content
- Website is down or experiencing errors
- A time-sensitive approval is needed within hours

What is not urgent (use the portal):

- Feedback on scheduled content
- Questions about the monthly report
- General campaign updates
- Revision requests with a standard turnaround time

How We Keep You Informed

You will never have to wonder what we're working on. Here is how we proactively keep you updated:

- Client Portal: All active deliverables, campaign statuses, and content calendars are visible in your portal at any time
- Monthly Report: Delivered by the 5th of every month — covers all performance metrics, wins, and next month's priorities
- Status Updates: When a deliverable moves to Client Review, you will be notified via email
- Campaign Alerts: If we notice a significant change in campaign performance, we will notify you proactively — we won't wait for the monthly report

Our Commitments to You

- You will always have one dedicated point of contact — no being passed around
- We will never start out-of-scope work without your written approval via a signed Change Order
- We will always notify you in advance if a deadline is at risk
- We will proactively flag performance issues before you have to ask
- We will treat your brand, your budget, and your business with the same care we would our own

Communication Policy Acknowledgement

By beginning work with Revital Productions, you acknowledge that you have read and agree to the communication expectations outlined in this policy.

If you have any questions about this policy, please reach out to your Account Manager at any time.

PART B — INTERNAL TEAM COMMUNICATION POLICY

For Revital Productions Team Members Only | Do Not Share With Clients

This section covers internal rules, standards, and escalation procedures for all team communication with clients. Every team member who communicates with a client must follow these guidelines without exception.

Core Communication Rules

1. One account manager per client — always

All client communication goes through the assigned Account Manager. No other team member should be communicating directly with a client about strategy, billing, scope, or deliverables unless the Account Manager has explicitly asked them to. If a client contacts a team member directly about something outside their role, respond politely and redirect: "Great question — let me have [Account Manager name] follow up with you on that."

2. All revision requests go through the portal — no exceptions

If a client submits a revision via email, text, or phone call, the Account Manager must log it in the  Feedback & Revisions list in ClickUp and reply to the client with a friendly reminder to use the portal going forward. Do not action revisions that were not submitted through the portal — this breaks the tracking system.

3. Never promise something you haven't confirmed

Do not commit to a deadline, a deliverable, or a budget change in a client conversation without first confirming internally. If a client asks "Can you have this done by Friday?" the correct response is "Let me check with the team and confirm — I'll get back to you within a few hours." Never overpromise.

4. Never discuss pricing or billing without the Account Manager

No team member other than the Account Manager or leadership should discuss pricing, billing, invoices, or contract terms with a client. If a client raises a billing question with someone other than their Account Manager, redirect immediately.

5. Never make scope changes without a Change Order

If a client asks for work outside the SOW — even casually in a conversation — do not agree to do it. The correct response is: "That's a great idea — let me put together a quick Change Order so we can get that moving for you." Reference the Change Order Process SOP in the Growth SOPs doc.

6. All client communication must be professional at all times

No slang, excessive informality, or casual language that could be misinterpreted. You are representing Revital Productions in every message, call, and meeting. Tone should be warm and human — but always professional.

7. Document everything

Every significant client conversation — calls, strategy discussions, feedback sessions — must be logged. Phone calls and verbal discussions get summarized in the client's  Client Strategy Meeting Notes list in ClickUp within 2 hours of the conversation. This protects the business and ensures the whole team stays aligned.

Internal Response Time Standards

Situation	Standard
Client email or portal message	Acknowledged within 24 business hours — always
Urgent client issue (campaign down, critical error)	Respond within 2 hours during business hours
Client waiting on a revision	Update the client on status within 24 hours of receiving the revision request
Client hasn't responded to an approval request	Send a gentle reminder after 48 hours — use the reminder language below
Leadership escalation required	Notify leadership same day — never sit on a problem
Client hasn't submitted intake form 48 hours after welcome email	Send the Intake Form Follow-Up email template immediately

Meeting Standards

Before every client call:

- Review the client's intake form responses — especially Section 1 (approval timeline, decision makers) and Section 6 (goals and KPIs)
- Review the client's CRM Deal record — check Client Health, Onboarding Status, and any logged flags
- Pull the last monthly report and note any performance trends
- Have the client's content calendar and active tasks open in ClickUp

During every client call:

- Take notes in real time or immediately after the call

- Never agree to scope changes, new deliverables, or pricing adjustments without saying "let me confirm and follow up"
- If the client expresses frustration or concern, acknowledge it directly — do not minimize or deflect

After every client call:

- Log a summary of the call in 📞 Client Strategy Meeting Notes in ClickUp within 2 hours
 - Follow up via email within 24 hours with a written summary of what was discussed and any action items
 - Update the client's CRM Deal record — Client Health, Last Contacted Date, and any relevant notes
 - Create any follow-up tasks in ClickUp with due dates and assignees

Escalation Protocol

When to Escalate to Leadership

Escalate to leadership immediately — same day — in any of the following situations:

- ☐ Client expresses serious dissatisfaction with results, the team, or the relationship
- ☐ Client threatens to cancel or mentions looking at other agencies
- ☐ A deliverable error reached the client (incorrect content went live, wrong ad ran, etc.)
- ☐ A billing dispute or invoice complaint is raised
- ☐ A client's ad account, website, or platform has been suspended, hacked, or compromised
- ☐ A client makes an unreasonable demand or exhibits abusive behavior toward team members
- ☐ A client requests something that would violate their contract or our policies
- ☐ Client Health drops to  Red

How to Escalate

1. Notify leadership via the agreed internal channel (text, Slack, or direct message) — same day
 2. Do NOT send the client a response that commits to anything until leadership has been briefed
 3. Log the situation in the client's Deal record Comments in ClickUp with the date and a brief description
 4. Leadership will determine the response approach and may join the next client call

Approved Language — Difficult Situations

Use these scripts when handling common difficult communication situations:

Client sends a revision via email instead of the portal:

"Thanks for sending this over! I've logged your feedback in your client portal so nothing gets missed. Going forward, the best way to submit revisions is directly through the portal — it helps us make sure everything is tracked and turned around on time. Here's the link: [portal link]. Let me know if you have any trouble accessing it!"

Client asks for something outside the SOW:

"Love that idea — let me put together a quick Change Order that covers the details and cost. Once you approve it we'll get it added to the schedule right away. I'll have it to you within 24 hours."

Client is unhappy with a deliverable:

"Thank you for the feedback — I really appreciate you being direct with us. I want to make sure we get this right for you. Let me review your notes with the team and we'll come back to you with a revised version [within X business days]. Can you submit your specific feedback through the portal so we can make sure nothing is missed?"

Client hasn't responded to an approval request after 48 hours:

"Hi [Name], just a friendly nudge — [deliverable name] is ready and waiting for your review! To keep things on schedule, we need your feedback by [date]. If we don't hear back we may need to push the go-live date to [new date]. No rush — just wanted to flag it so nothing sneaks up on you!"

Client asks about results that are underperforming:

"Great question — let's dig into that together. [Explain the data clearly and honestly.] Here's what we're seeing and why we believe it's happening. Here's what we're doing about it this month: [action items]. We'll keep a close eye on this and I'll flag any updates before the next report."

Client raises a billing concern:

"Thanks for bringing that to my attention — let me look into this right away and get back to you today. I want to make sure everything is accurate and fair. Can you let me know which invoice or charge you're referring to so I can pull it up?"

Client is becoming difficult or unreasonable:

[Do not respond immediately.] Notify leadership first. Leadership will determine the appropriate response and whether the Account Manager or a leadership team member should respond.

Client Health Monitoring

Every Account Manager is responsible for monitoring the health of their assigned accounts on a weekly basis. Use the Weekly Account Management Questionnaire in the CRM Guidelines to assess each client every Monday.

Client Health Rating Actions:

Rating	Required Action	Timeline
 Green	Continue current cadence — look for upsell opportunities	Ongoing
 Yellow	Schedule a proactive check-in call — do not wait for them to reach out	Within 7 days
 Red	Escalate to leadership immediately — same day	Same day

Update Client Health in the CRM Deal record after:

- Every monthly report delivery
- Every client call where sentiment was discussed
- Any situation where the client expressed frustration, concern, or praise
- The Weekly Account Management Questionnaire

Out of Office Protocol

When an Account Manager is out of office:

1. Notify all assigned clients via email at least 3 business days before the absence with:
 - Dates of absence
 - Backup contact name and email
 - Confirmation that all active work will continue as scheduled
2. Brief the backup contact on each client's current status, active deliverables, and any flags
3. Update the  Time Off & Availability list in ClickUp HR folder
4. Set an out of office auto-reply on your @revitalproductions.com email with the backup contact's information
5. On return — review all client portal messages, emails, and CRM updates from during the absence before doing anything else

Communication Confidentiality

All client information, strategies, campaign data, creative work, and business details shared in client communication are strictly confidential. Team members must not:

- Discuss one client's business with another client
- Share client performance data, pricing, or strategy with any third party
- Post client content, results, or information on personal social media without written client permission and leadership approval
- Use client data for any purpose other than delivering contracted services

Any breach of client confidentiality must be reported to leadership immediately. Reference the NDA and Contractor Agreement in the Legal & Compliance folder for the full confidentiality obligations.

Communication Checklist — New Client First 30 Days

Run this checklist for every new client in the first 30 days to establish the communication relationship correctly from the start:

Day 1

- ☐ Welcome email sent with intake form link
- ☐ Client added to ClickUp portal with correct access
- ☐ Account Manager introduction made — name, email, phone shared

Within 48 hours of form submission

- ☐ Intake form reviewed and red flag check completed
- ☐ Kick-off call scheduled and confirmed

Kick-Off Call

- ☐ Client Communication Policy shared and explained (Part A)
- ☐ Portal walkthrough completed — client knows how to submit revisions
- ☐ Approval timeline confirmed (reference intake form Section 1, Q8)
- ☐ All decision makers identified and added to communication chain (reference intake form Section 1, Q9)

- ☐ Meeting cadence agreed — monthly report call scheduled

Day 30

- ☐ First monthly touchpoint completed
 - ☐ Client Health rated in CRM
 - ☐ Any communication friction identified and addressed
 - ☐ Client confirmed they know how to use the portal and submit revisions
